GIFT FROM BERLIN:
borough leaders and

winners welcome
the Buddy Bear in Woolwich

Twin towns celebrate 50 years of friendship

TWIN towns celebrated 50 years of friendship with the presentation of a special gift.

The royal borough and the Berlin borough of Reinickendorf marked 50 years of town twinning with a ceremony in General Gordon Square last Friday (May 27).

The half century anniversary was marked with the handover of 'Buddy Bear', a gift from the Mayor of Reinickendorf, Herr Frank Balzer to the royal borough. Cllr Peter Brooks, deputy mayor gave a speech welcoming the delegation and recalled the long history between the two boroughs. The 50-year union has seen the two towns share their historical, cultural and lifestyle similarities and differences with the aim of developing a friendship and better understanding.

The fibreglass bear was initially presented blank and a design competition was held at Eltham Hill Primary School, which has connections with Germany. The winning design came from Year 7 pupils Roxana Ristea and Cindy Tran, and includes famous local landmarks such as the Thames Barrier and Severndroog Castle. Local artist Michele Petit-Jean was commissioned by the council to paint the design onto the bear.

The bear is a symbol of Berlin, and the Buddy Bear has come to be the ambassador of Berlin and the town often gifts bears to other places as a sign of connection and friendship.

Reinickendorf was the first place to be twinned with the royal borough, in 1966. Since then the borough has also twinned with Maribor in Slovenia, and Tema in Ghana.

New future for Spray St gets the green-light

SIX hundred new homes in the heart of Woolwich town centre are part of a £200m plan to bring a new lease of life to the site of the covered market.

Developers for the multi-million pound Spray Street Quarter were approved by the council's cabinet last week. They have been chosen to develop a 4.6 acre site which includes the covered market and adjoining land transforming it with new shops, a cinema, cafes, restaurants and new business and office space. At the heart of the development will be a new public space and 600 homes with just over a third available as affordable housing.

Full plans will be submitted for approval after public consultation.

The scheme is part of the royal borough's plans to regenerate the area as outlined in the borough's masterplan for the area, which earmarks potential sites for development.

Council leader Denise Hyland said: "Woolwich is undergoing a huge transformation and the area around Spray Street and the covered market has unfortunately declined in recent years. With more homes coming to the area and the arrival of Crossrail right across the road, the new plans will bring huge benefits to local residents, providing new and modern retail spaces, and the addition of a new local cinema will help drive up our local night-time economy where all our local businesses can benefit. You can still vote without your polling card

POLLING cards for the EU Referendum on June 23 have been sent out and they should be with you now. Residents who have registered recently will get theirs shortly. But don't worry if you don't have one - as long as you are eligible and have registered you will be able to vote.

It will help speed up the process if you do have your polling card, but you do not need to take it with you to the polling station.

All British, Irish and Commonwealth citizens who are 18 or over on June 23 2016 are eligible to register to vote at this referendum. If you registered for the elections in May then you do not need to register again, unless you have changed your name or moved house since then.

Key dates
Registration deadline (if you are already registered to vote in elections, you don't need to register again for the referendum)	Tuesday June 7
Postal vote deadline (if you have already registered to vote)	5pm Wednesday June 8
Proxy vote deadline (if you have already registered to vote)	5pm Wednesday June 15

Remember that postal voters must return their ballot pack so it arrives back by 10pm on June 23. Please send it back as soon as you can.

Inspirational sports stars

TEAM WORK: pupils from 12 Greenwich schools compete in a range of sports

DOZENS of young people were given the opportunity to try out new sports activities at the 2016 SportInspired Festival at St Paul's Academy in Abbey Wood.

While rain stopped play outdoors, the 170 youngsters from 12 Greenwich schools had a great time inside trying their hand at sports such as boccia, new age curling and tri-golf.

The festival, on May 18, was organised for pupils with special educational needs from years 3 to 8 (seven- to 13-year-olds) and was supported by volunteers from Lloyds Banking Group as part of the national Give and Gain Week celebrating employee volunteering.

Carol Duffy, a PE teacher at St Paul's, said the day was a great success: "The aim of the festival was to help instil a love of sport and physical activity in these pupils who may not ordinarily be given the opportunity to engage in such activities as often as they would like."

She said the volunteers and other schools taking part were particularly impressed by the "unbelievable work" carried out by the 40 St Paul's sports leaders who helped organise and run the day.

Councillor Miranda Williams, the borough's cabinet member for children's services said: "The royal borough is committed to helping residents of all backgrounds increase their physical activity and to reducing potential barriers to participation that may hinder them. Events like the SportsInspired Festival are one way of increasing opportunities for youngsters and we are pleased that local volunteers were able to contribute to a fabulous day of sporting activity."

SportInspired is a charity that encourages people to be active by organising fun and inclusive community programmes – for more information visit www.sportinspired.org an exciting time for Woolwich and I very much look forward to seeing the new designs when they are submitted to the council in due course."

The site sits opposite the new Crossrail station due for completion in 2018 and will be an important site linking the Royal Arsenal and the town centre.

Leading the development is regeneration specialist

St Modwen Properties and Notting Hill Housing, one of London's biggest housing associations.

Tim Seddon, regional director for London and the south east at St Modwen, said: "The Spray Street Quarter will be a vibrant addition to the town centre, providing new homes, leisure and job opportunities. Woolwich's excellent connections provide the opportunity around a key transport hub to meet local and London-wide demand with a broad mix of housing types."

John Hughes, group development director at Notting Hill Housing, said: "This is a fantastic opportunity to work with Royal Greenwich to transform this part of Woolwich town centre into a new community and commercial hub with great access to public transport."

Power to the Plumstead people!

RESIDENTS flocked to a showcase of community projects being developed alongside an £11m facelift for Plumstead.

People living on the White Hart Estate had a chance to hear more about the programme of investments and improvements planned for Plumstead earlier this month.

Residents of all ages also learned more about the social events and projects planned for the community and the council services in the area including the work by the council's street services, regeneration and community safety teams.

The Bannockburn School Glee Club entertained visitors to the event at the Salvation Army Centre in Hartville Road while they visited stands from the Charlton Athletic Community Trust, the Scouts Association, the Greenwich Co-operative Development Agency and Crossrail who supplied a bouncy castle. The local Safer Neighbourhood Team spoke to residents about policing priorities and displayed their mobile police station.

Alfred Wright, who has lived in the borough since 1974 and is Chair of the Glyndon and West Plumstead Housing Panel, said: "It's really good to get the community involved in events like this so that residents can learn directly about the services on offer to them and how we can continue to work together to improve the local area."

The event was attended by Plumstead ward councillor Matthew Morrow and the council's deputy leader Danny Thorpe who is also cabinet member for regeneration and sustainability. He said: "Plumstead is rapidly changing for the better. The royal borough's £11.2 million investment programme for the area coupled with the new Crossrail Station marks an exciting new phase of economic development. It is only right that this is accompanied with an equal level of social investment to bolster an already very strong, local community spirit."

COMING TOGETHER: borough reps meet local people including the Bannockburn school Glee Club and housing panel rep Alfred Wright

● For more information about community participation events in the borough, please call 020 8921 5585 or email community-participation@royalgreenwich.gov.uk

● The next Glyndon and West Plumstead Housing Panel meeting is on June 30 at Glyndon Community Centre from 6.30pm with surgeries for caretaker and repairs issues followed by the main meeting at 7pm.

Help to give a helping hand

RESIDENTS can find out more about becoming a volunteer, and the benefits that can be gained, during Volunteers Week that starts this week.

As well as celebrating the contribution volunteers make to their community, the week is designed to attract more people to get involved in volunteering roles.

Volunteer Centre Greenwich will have a stall in General Gordon Square, Woolwich to recruit new volunteers and highlight the benefits such as acquiring new skills and confidence.

The mayor of Greenwich, Cllr Olu Babatola, will launch the week that actually runs for 10 days this year from June 1-12.

Mum of two Elona Gashi has been volunteering at the centre as a personal assistant since last October after getting a degree in business management at the University of Greenwich.

She said: "I wanted to gain some experience so that I'd have something extra. I've learned how to use different software and how to deal with calls and it's increased my confidence. Volunteering is a good way to gain new skills and show that you can work independently which is what employers are looking for."

All for one award for college

CORELLI College was one of only 60 schools to receive a government award for the way it promotes democracy. The co-operative academy in Kidbrooke received the 'Discovering Democracy Award' from the Cabinet Office and British Youth Council earlier this month. The Discovering Democracy Award is presented to secondary schools and colleges which encourage pupils to take an interest in the democratic process, both within the school or through social action projects in the local community. Teachers and students were invited to the Houses of Parliament to receive the award from the Minister for Constitutional Reform John Penrose MP. Student Ciaran Farrell went along with principal Zara Tippey and assistant principal Karen Cronin (pictured). Ciaran addressed the event on behalf of the college, saying: "Democracy in our academy is a value learnt by all students. It helps define and shape the students and in turn gives passion for involvement and change."

Spotlight on youth theatre

STARRING ROLE: the Glypt team launch a new season last year, inset, stills from recent Glypt productions and projects

THE success of a popular youth theatre company, Greenwich & Lewisham Young People's Theatre, has been acknowledged with a series of funding successes including almost £100,000 from Arts Council England.

The £99,550 grant from Arts Council England will fund GLYPT's Progression project for another two years.

Now to be called Further Progression, the scheme helps to bring together young people aged 16 to 25 with professional artists and to establish a career in the creative industry.

GLYPT chief executive Jeremy James said: "It's exciting to have these additional resources in the form of these grants and awards. We are also delighted as it helps to show cases the huge range of work we deliver and highlights the various communities of young people that we engage with."

The theatre group, which is funded by the royal borough, has been working with young people for more than 40 years and is based at the Tramshed in Woolwich, has been successful in several other recent funding applications.

It has been awarded £11,000 to make a short film encouraging secondary school children to take their medication for asthma, something many are reluctant to do in case they appear weak to their peers.

GLYPT has also won a contract with Phoenix Housing to produce a large-scale community play in the Bellingham area over the next two years. The company has also been given three years of funding to run the Demelza Children's Hospice programme, working with families.

Additionally, GLYPT have a new director of youth theatre: Television director Sam Miller, who worked on dramas such as Luther and Cardiac Arrest.

Mr James said: "We should all feel very chuffed about these achievements. I think it is fair to say we are an organisation making a difference."

Order 2016

1. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that Royal Borough of Greenwich proposes to make the above-mentioned Orders under sections 6, 45, 46, 49 and 124 of and Part II of Schedule 5 to the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984, as amended.
2. The general effect of the Orders would be to:
 - (a) extend the existing Lee Road Area (Zone BL) CPZ to include Bantley Close, with the extended CPZ continuing to operate between 9.00 am and 5.00 pm, on Mondays to Saturdays inclusive;
 - (b) provide that residents within the extended CPZ would be eligible to apply for the relevant parking permits / vouchers; and
 - (c) provide a permit holders parking area throughout the part of Bantley Close not having red route waiting restrictions. The parking area would be available for use during the CPZ times.
3. A copy of the proposed Orders and other documents, including a map, giving more detailed particulars of the Orders are available for inspection during normal office hours until the end of six weeks from the date on which the Orders are made or, as the case may be, the Council decides not to make the Orders, at the Directorate of Regeneration, Enterprise and Skills, Strategic Transportation, Royal Borough of Greenwich, The Woolwich Centre, 35 Wellington Street, E18 0HQ.
4. Further information may be obtained by telephoning Strategic Transportation on 020 8921 6114.
5. Any person who wishes to object to or make other representations about the proposed Orders should send a Statement in Writing, specifying the grounds on which any objection is made, to the Royal Borough of Greenwich, PO Box 485, Kemp House, 152-160 Guy Road, London, E11 2NR (quoting reference POU/THS/CO/10000830314), to arrive by 21st June 2016.
6. Persons objecting to the proposed Orders should be aware that in view of the Local Government (Access to Information) Act 1985, the Council would be legally obliged to make any comments received in response to this notice, open to public inspection.

Help kickstart Black History Month appeal

AN arts charity has launched a crowdfunding appeal to raise money for Black History Month events in October.

Global Fusion Music and Arts is aiming to raise £6,000 towards the cost of organising projects for the month, which has been celebrated every year in the UK since 1981.

The crowdfunder was launched at a music and dance night held at Mycenae House in Blackheath last Friday (May 27).

Project manager Louisa Le Marchand said: "For the appeal to work we need as many people as possible to kickstart it with a small or generous donation. We need all the help we can get and it will really benefit the Greenwich community."

Last October Global Fusion organised a programme of events which included workshops, a film screening, a concert of African music and other performances.

Steps in the right direction

STAIRWAY TO HISTORIC SITE: Cllr John Fahy cut the ribbon at the opening event attended by representatives of Natural England, the London Geodiversity Partnership and the royal borough

A NEWLY-INSTALLED staircase is giving visitors unprecedented access to a site of special interest in Charlton.

A brand new set of steps has been installed at the former quarry face of Gilbert's Pit - one of London's most important geological Sites of Special Scientific Interest (SSSI).

Work was also carried out to clear vegetation and remove scree so that visitors can now enjoy impressive views of the disused sand, gravel and chalk workings. The remaining pit face exposes sediments laid down in a coastal environment about 58 million years ago - one of the finest examples of its kind.

Gilbert's Pit has attracted scientific study for decades and the improved access allows geologists of all ages to see the complex layers beneath London. This important site will help give construction engineers a better understanding when building major infrastructure.

Cllr Jackie Smith, cabinet member for community, safety & environment said: "I am absolutely delighted that this wonderful SSSI is now accessible to the public. The next stage will be encouraging local schools and community groups to see Gilbert's Pit for themselves and learn about the very rich history of the site."

The project is the culmination of partnership working between the royal borough, Natural England and the London Geodiversity Partnership. It was joint-funded by a £10,000 grant from Natural England under the Conservation and Enhancement Scheme and £1,300 from the royal borough. The London Geodiversity Partnership also provided volunteers and technical expertise on the ground.

Since 2002 the site has been designated as in 'unfavourable condition' due to natural erosion caused by people sliding down the slope and trees and scrub obscuring the exposures. But the work means Gilbert's Pit is now classified by Natural England as in 'favourable condition.'

Julie Russ, land management adviser of the Thames Valley Area Team said: "Gilbert's Pit is an incredible geological site of special interest, opening a door into our past. I'm really pleased that we've been able to open up the site for research and study, offering safe access. The Conservation and Enhancement Scheme is also providing funds for the on-going clearance of scrub re-growth to ensure that the sediments remain visible, so it should remain in good condition for some time to come!"

Access to Gilbert's Pit steps is by arrangement through the council. Contact senior parks ranger Larry Blake at larry.blake@royalgreenwich.gov.uk or on 020 8921 4124.

Caring for our carers

12 GT February 10 2016February 10 2016 GT 13

All the care in the world

Greenwich Carers Centre welcomed a special guest to celebrate its 25th anniversary last week (Feb 10). Her Royal Highness The Princess Royal visited the Carers Centre, based at the Stables, Charlton, to mark the occasion and to see for herself the superb new facilities available to local residents.

“Despite cuts in funding for local councils, these social care services remain a top priority for the council as we plan our services in the year ahead.”

SUPPORT IN THE COMMUNITY: previous GT coverage of services at the Carers' Centre

PEOPLE who are providing care for someone are the focus of a series of events in the royal borough for Carer's Week from June 6-13.

The annual campaign is designed to raise awareness of caring, highlight the challenges carers face and recognise the contribution they make to families and communities throughout the UK. The aim is to help all services within a local community, from GPs through to high street shops better support carers, so that they can continue to look after the person they care for.

Locally, the Greenwich Carers' Centre is hosting events for carers, local retailers and services, and other residents.

Events include an all day invitation to local businesses on June 6; a day for carers of someone with a learning disability on June 7; one-to-one surgeries for carers on June 10 and a stall at Plumstead Make Merry on June 11.

Tickets for a Queen's birthday celebration on June 12 are available for £10.

The Carers Centre has been operating for 25 years and has supported over 13,000 adult carers and more than 400 young carers (those aged 8-17 years) offering a comprehensive range of advice and information. Based at The Stables in Charlton, it offers a range of support facilities for carers including activity rooms, a spa and therapy rooms, and a cafe.

Carers' Centre chief executive Sue Mitchell said: "If we are not already caring for someone, many of us are likely to become a carer in our lifetime. This year the focus is on building carer-friendly communities so that the whole community can support carers to look after their family or friends well, while recognising that they are still individuals with their own needs. Caring can be rewarding but at times it can also be a really isolating and ill-informed experience. Our message to all residents helping to look after a loved one at home is that there is help and support available as well as a space to just take time out and relax. This week is a great chance for them to find out more about the support and services available."

● For more information visit www.thestables7.com or call 0300 300 2233. Or visit www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/carers to find out about the support available to royal borough carers.

Carers, grab yourself some TLC

CARERS are invited to take a little time out for themselves at a relaxation afternoon during Carers' Week.

The not-for-profit social care provider, Outlook Care, is hosting the event at its Royal Greenwich Short Breaks service, in Greenwich, on Wednesday 8 June.

It runs from 12 noon to 2pm, offering health checks, light refreshments and even a mini-manicure. Ann Nunn, service manager at Royal Greenwich Short Breaks Service, said: "At Outlook Care we're proud to support Carers' Week, and want to use this as an opportunity to place a focus on carers. Being a carer can be extremely rewarding – but it is also a massive commitment. Often, carers don't have the time to put themselves first."

Children's Hospice Week appeal

A CHILDREN'S hospice is appealing for donations – and for volunteers – following a special week to highlight the services and support it offers to local families.

Demelza invited locals to come and find out more during Children's Hospice Week which ran from May 23-30.

The theme of this year's campaign was 'Time to put families first' and it aimed to improve public understanding of what life is really like for families caring for seriously ill children.

The campaign also raised awareness of the range of children's palliative care services and the vital support it offers for families.

Looking forward to her seventh birthday next month is Izzy from Greenwich (pictured) who has Quadriplegic spastic cerebral palsy after a lack of oxygen at birth.

She needs 24 hour care and is fed through a tube and needs a wheelchair to get around.

Her parents Charmaine and Louis have been using the facility for five years and admit they had their reservations at first.

"When Demelza was first mentioned all we heard was 'hospice', but we went and saw it and thought it was amazing," Charmaine explained.

She added: "Izzy is not able to do anything for herself so we need to do everything for her. Demelza's help means switching off your alarm and having a good night's sleep, knowing that she is ok. It means we can recharge our batteries. And Izzy enjoys her stays too - she knows the staff, she's well taken care of and she gets involved in the activities, including music therapy, painting."

● To find out more about Demelza and how you can donate visit www.demelza.org.uk or call 020 8859 9800.

Ambassadors for our

A new first citizen of the royal borough was inaugurated last week. Cllr Babatola was inaugurated as the royal borough's first African mayor and says a fond farewell to the outgoing mayor.

OLU Babatola was inaugurated as the royal borough's first African mayor, last Wednesday.

Mayor Babatola, who represents the Thamesmead Moorings ward, received the chain of office from outgoing mayor, Cllr Norman Adams, during a ceremony in the Painted Hall at the Old Royal Naval College last Wednesday (May 25).

The event featured performances by the Discovery Primary School choir, where the new mayor is a governor, and the Oduduwa Talking Drummers.

Cllr Babatola was born in Nigeria and after completing his schooling there he moved to the UK in 1986 with his wife Omewale Babutola. He completed a Postgraduate Diploma in Management Studies at the Greenwich School of Management and became an associate member of the Association of Business Executives (AMABE). Alongside this study, he worked in the retail industry and currently works as a deputy store manager with a major retailer.

In 2014, he was elected as a councillor representing the Thamesmead Moorings ward.

When asked about the coming year, the new mayor said: "I look forward to visiting the varied and exciting events in all the wards of the borough and encouraging all representatives to participate in their respective wards with me. I cherish the opportunity I will have in visiting the many third sector organisations and faith groups, as they are the heartbeat of our great borough."

For his year in office the mayor has chosen to support two charities - Africans Unite Against Child Abuse (AFRUC), and The Archway Project.

AFRUC has developed in response to the problems faced by African children and parents, with the main focus on prevention and early intervention. Funds raised will go towards local projects for children and families.

The Archway Project in Thamesmead was established in 1982 and works to enrich the lives of young people living in London. They provide a range of educational and recreational activities working closely in partnership with schools, colleges, local councils and the police. Money raised will go towards buying more equipment for cookery courses they currently run.

The new deputy mayor is Cllr Peter Brooks, who represents Glyndon Ward.

COUNCILLOR Norman Adams handed over the mantle after an incredibly busy year that has seen him attend more than 400 engagements as mayor.

Looking back over the past 12 months he said: "I have been amazed by how well received I have been, from children and adults alike. People really respond to the robes, hat, chain and badge, and respect the role that the mayor plays."

Regularly supported by his partner, Serena Lovelace, he has travelled across the royal borough visiting schools, spending time in care homes, giving talks and sharing his experiences with school children and people old and young. His engagements included travelling to the royal borough's twin town of Maribor in Slovenia to unveil a plaque for Greenwich Park and he's even shown off his Wild West credentials helping to chase down and return two ponies that had escaped from the Charlton Disabled Riding school!

He has greeted royalty on behalf of the royal borough, including Princess Anne – on more than one occasion – and was particularly proud to present the borough's Civic Awards. "Most of these heroes and heroines will rarely be heard of or receive the recognition they truly deserve, the awards are a special way to thank those who do so much for so many in the Royal Borough of Greenwich," he told GT.

Cllr Adams supported the Early Dove School in Lusaka, Zambia, and Greenwich and Bexley Hospice through the mayor's charity. The money raised will go towards improvements at the school, which teaches children who are mainly orphans and victims of AIDS, and also towards the creation of a sensory garden at the hospice.

When asked if he had any advice for his successor, Cllr Babatola, he offered "Make sure you listen to all of the support staff - from your driver to the team in the mayor's office, they all have valuable experience to help you make the most of this year."

Council leader Denise Hyland paid tribute to the outgoing mayor who represents the Kidbrooke with Hornfair ward, saying: "Norman, and his very talented mayoress, Serena, have been tremendous ambassadors for our borough and I'd like to thank them from the bottom of my heart and hope that they can settle back into 'civilian' life knowing that they have served the borough to the highest standard."

ROYAL

OUTDOOR FUN: visitors to last year's Parksfest event at East Greenwich Pleasaunce

THE royal borough's summer celebration of its parks and open spaces starts this weekend with events in two of the local pleasaunces.

Parksfest is a festival of free open air entertainment packed full of live performances of dance, music and drama throughout June and July.

It kicks off on Sunday, June 5 with a family fun day at Well Hall Pleasaunce in Eltham where a main stage will host local choirs, bands, dance and musical groups.

Other attractions around the gardens include arts and crafts stalls, circus skills and a Punch and Judy show.

The fun day is from 12-5pm and is designed for all ages – for more information call 0845 459 2351.

East Greenwich Pleasaunce hosts a summer festival on the same day with children's entertainment, sports taster sessions and live music from the Trinity Laban Players, Dixieland Jazz Band, Ronnie and the Ripcords, Los Dawsons and Halstow Community Choir.

A marquee will house a collection of artworks made by local artists, potters and wood turners, which will be for sale at affordable prices.

The pleasaunce is in Chevening Road, Greenwich and the festival, for all ages, starts at 12noon, ending at 5pm – call 07815 469571 for more details.

Both events are part of the Royal Greenwich Festivals, a series of summer arts events across the borough.

For full details about other Parksfest 2016 events visit www.parksfest.org and for details about all festival events can be found at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/festivals

Charlton plant sale

STOCK up on plants for your garden at a special fundraising sale this Sunday (June 5).

The Charlton Community Gardens group is hosting the sale from 2-4pm at Charlton Station.

The group has maintained an organic garden of fruit vegetables and flowers at Charlton Rail Station for three years.

It aims to promote cooperation and support for everyone interested in sustainable and organic growing and wildlife diversity.

Judy Wolfram, chair of the management committee, said: "Plant sales help to cover maintenance costs of the gardens. People can also join in monthly Gardening Parties on the first Sunday of the month from 2-4pm on Charlton station concourse."

HUNDREDS of artists, designers and craftspeople will be displaying their work and showing how it's done at the latest open studios event at a Woolwich art house.

This will be the fourth year that Second Floor Studios & Arts (SFSA) have opened the doors to their creative spaces where 450 people are involved in a diverse range of skills.

Book-binding, clock-making, garden design and sculpture as well as architecture, jewellery design and print-making are just some of their many talents.

Visitors will be able to view and discuss the work, some of which will be on sale, and take part in free drop-in workshops for families and adults.

There will also be a charity sale of hundreds of postcard-sized original pieces, each priced at £20. Entitled Anonymous, the sale this year will be raising money for four charities – War Child, Action on Hearing, Talitha and Meridian Radio.

Originally founded by Matthew Wood in 1997, SFSA was set up as a social enterprise company to provide affordable workspace for creatives at different stages of their careers.

It has been based in a number of different sites in the royal borough over the years and is now housed on the Mellish Industrial Estate close to the Thames Barrier where the artists work in several buildings, including Trinity Wharf and the Telegraph Building.

Highlights of Open Studios, which runs from Friday to Sunday, June 3-5, include workshop sessions, hands-on

Art house showcase

Open studio event includes charity sale of original works of art

CREATIVE LICENCE: visitors can meet the artists at work during the open house weekend demonstrations at the Thames Barrier Print Studio and the Modern Makers IV: Sculpture exhibition.

Matthew Wood said: "Open Studios are the highlight of our annual programming. "It's the perfect opportunity for our growing, vibrant hub of members, all at varying stages of their careers, ranging from recent graduates, emerging artists and makers to long established practitioners, to showcase their individual practices, by opening their studio doors for the public to enter, view, and purchase original works of art craft and design commission-free."

A public preview of the show will be held on Thursday, June 2 from 6-9pm and the studios will be open from June 3-5 from 1-7pm each day.

The studios are in Harrington Way, off Warspite Road, Woolwich and admission is free.

Time to go vintage in Woolwich

FAIR OFFER: examples of the kinds of things available at the new vintage fair

A NEW vintage and craft fair launches in Woolwich in June – and the organiser is hoping it will become a monthly event.

Heritage officer Julie Ricketts, who lives and works in the area, says it's time south east London muscled in on the East End's burgeoning vintage scene.

"I'm really excited to see the regeneration of Woolwich. There are so many great things going on in the community, and so many people involved in creative and entrepreneurial activities," she said.

"The vintage and designer-makers scene has exploded in east London, and now the time is right for SE18 to have a vintage and craft fair all of its own."

Do You Vintage? will be held on Saturday, June 11 at Building 10 in Major Draper Street, Royal Arsenal Riverside with a range of stalls selling vintage and handcrafted items including collectables, clothes and accessories, housewares, glass and ceramics, furniture, upcycled pieces, paintings and vinyl records.

Work by local artists and craft workers will be showcased and the vintage theme will be followed through to the 1940s-style tearoom Julie said: "I partly like vintage for the nostalgia element and also because I like the quality of the materials and the design. People wear vintage fashions, because they are tired of looking like High Street clones, and it's economical and good for the environment."

Entry to Do You Vintage? is free and the fair is open from 10am-4pm. For more information visit www.facebook.com/doyouvintage/ or email doyouvintage@gmail.com

FIREPOWER Royal Artillery Museum is holding a free Community Day this weekend to celebrate 300 years of the Royal Regiment of Artillery.

Entitled Ubique 300, after part of the regiment's motto meaning 'Everywhere', the event on Saturday, June 4 will also be a thank you to the community for its support over many years.

The museum closes in July and the collection moves to a new heritage centre in Wiltshire.

Attractions on Saturday will include camouflage face painting and bungee running for children, a craft table, swing dance lessons and tours of the museum.

There will be military drilling and a boot camp, and actors telling true stories about the Arsenal in both World Wars along with demos cannon firing. Ubique 300 runs from 10am to 5pm. The day will end with the lowering of the flag and a gun firing demonstration at 4.30pm.

The museum is in the Royal Arsenal at Woolwich – for more details visit firepower.org.uk

GreenwichHomes

Royal Borough of Greenwich's Choice Based Lettings Scheme

Edition 496

BIDDING FOR PROPERTIES

People on the Housing register are able to bid for all properties, regardless of their banding. You must be eligible for the size of property and bids will be considered in the following order:

First Band A, followed by Band B1/B2 both in priority date order. Those in Band C will then be considered in registration date order.

Please note that there will still be some properties with age restrictions so only people of this age group can apply for these.

BAND

- A is for applicants in unsatisfactory housing, including people moving due to demolition and those underoccupying their homes.
- B1 is for applicants the Royal Borough of Greenwich must prioritise according to the law, particularly homeless people, and others with an urgent need to move for medical or welfare reasons.
- or B2
- C is for all applicants on the housing register, including those that are in priority bands A and B1/B2.

How do I apply?

1 Get on the list

First, you've got to be on the housing waiting list to join the scheme. If you're not, register an application on line at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk

2 Find your applicant number

It will be on the letter you've already had from the Royal Borough of Greenwich about the new scheme. You'll need that number and the reference number of the property you're after, which will be on the advert.

3 Pick out your ideal property

by looking in Greenwich Time or regularly checking the website:

www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Click on your preference on the website. If you don't have a computer, you can always use one for free at either The Eltham or Woolwich Centre or a local library.

4 Apply in one of three ways

- Text bidding is now available and the number to use is 07786207913. For further information please see page 2, or
- Phone the 24-hour hotline 020 8921 4340. It's an automatic push-button system and calls will be charged at the normal local rate, or
- Via the Royal Borough of Greenwich's website www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/homes

Due to our growing school, we are currently looking for teaching assistants for 26.25 hours – 39 weeks per year to join our team at our school. Candidates must be willing to become part of our whole school team and should be hard working, highly positive and able to use their initiative. They should be adaptable, creative and able to communicate well with adults and children. Our ethos is one of care and respect. The ideal candidate will have a real passion to work with children and understand the importance of nurture within the primary school whilst maintaining high expectations and standards.

The main role of the 1:1 Teaching Assistant is to provide the child with appropriate support to make progress in all areas of their learning using their personalised learning programme and in accordance with the requirements of their education health care plan. You will, primarily be employed to support the child and facilitate/implement teaching and learning according to the advice and guidance provided by the class teacher and professionals involved in the care of the child.

All applicants must have:

- Experience teaching primary children with severe speech and language difficulties
- Experience working with other services such as speech and language therapists in order to implement specialist programmes
- Be able to adapt and provide a flexible approach to teaching and learning
- Be a team player
- Be punctual with a good attendance record
- Have the right to work in the UK
- Have impeccable written and spoken English
- Very good levels of Maths and English

Ref 1 - Teaching Assistant: Level 3, 1:1 support for a child with severe speech and language delay

It would be preferable for applicants to have:

- Experience using PECS and alternative forms of communication
- Experience using Makaton signing

Ref 2 - Teaching Assistant: Level 3, 1:1 support for a child with emotional and behavioural difficulties, ADHD and dyslexia

It would be preferable for applicants to have:

- Experience of the nurture approach to learning – knowledge of strategies using the 6 principles of nurture.

Ref 3 - Teaching Assistant: Level 3, 1:1 support for a child with ASD

It would be preferable for applicants to have:

- Attention Autism training
- Makaton Signing

To download an application pack, please go to:
www.windrushprimary.org

These posts are subject to Enhanced CRB Checks. Windrush is committed to protecting the welfare of children.

Visits to the school are welcomed, please email dcorrigan@windrush.greenwich.sch.uk for an appointment.

Closing date: 10th June 2016 – 12pm
Interviews: 17th & 20th June 2016

Previous unsuccessful candidates need not apply.

ROYAL BOROUGH OF GREENWICH ROAD TRAFFIC REGULATION ACT 1984 – SECTION 14(1) TEMPORARY ROAD CLOSURE – Paston Crescent SE12

See you on court!

Game set and match for online bookings

WITH the French Open in full swing and Wimbledon fast approaching it's time to dust off that racket and show off your skills on the tennis court.

There are tennis courts at a number of parks in the borough, (see table).

Blackheath courts offer online booking. Find out all the locations and book online at www.royalgreenwich.gov.uk/tennis courts

There are also courts at leisure centres across the borough including Coldharbour Leisure Centre which has six outdoor hard courts and Charlton Lido and Lifestyle Club which has four junior and four adult courts, all floodlit.

If your tennis skills need a bit of brushing up then Charlton Lido and Lifestyle Club also offers lessons. There are classes for all ages and abilities including mini-tennis for children.
